

Unleash Your Inner User Feedback Innovator!

We're on the hunt for ambitious students to join us on a mission to refine and upgrade the way we offer feedback to our app users. If you're interested in understanding how users engage with the insights generated from our app, this project is for you! This project focuses on feedback generated from data we gather through our smart wearables, and the subsequent data processing.

What's the Goal?

We're all about delivering the utmost value to our users. For this, we need their interaction, intuitive understanding, and continuous use of our app. You should be excited about the challenge of transforming complex data into easily understandable content while keeping user motivation high.

Who Will You Work With?

You'll be part of our amazing R&D Team - a group of hardware, software, and data whizzes - and will be working closely with other organizational departments, especially the user-centric Customer Success Team and our Commercial Team.

Where are We Located?

Our company, despite its young age, has made a comfortable nest in Ballerup, at The Camp - a vibrant office space housed within TRYG Insurance's HQ. We have a diverse team and offer incredible flexibility with working hours and locations (Home? Office? Vacation house? You name it!).

Who are We Looking For?

We're hoping to create a project team of 2-4 dedicated students. So, gather your study pals and come aboard!

If this sounds like the challenge you've been waiting for, we can't wait to hear from you!
