Confidentiality usually applies to information that is considered confidential either by law or by an administrative decision. In particular, information concerning private circumstances (i.e. health conditions) of individuals is considered confidential.

Confidentiality applies to everyone who is employed or has been employed within the public sector. This is also the case for clinical placements. Confidentiality does not cease at the end of the clinical placements.

Confidentiality must also be practiced with respect to colleagues and students who do not have anything to do with the specific case in question.

Written material produced in or on the basis of the clinical placement is also considered confidential.

Collection of confidential information is only allowed when necessary for the current treatment of a specific patient.

The following statement should be read and signed:

I hereby declare that I will adhere by the rules of administrative and criminal law regarding confidentiality in respect of circumstances that I observe or become familiar with in connection with my clinical placement at:

Aarhus University Hospital (Aarhus)

I am aware that any unauthorized disclosure of confidential information whether deliberate or otherwise can result in immediate termination of my enrollment at Aarhus University and may also result in legal proceedings against me.

I am informed and hereby accept my confidentiality:
